In PowerPoint, it is possible to set the background of a presentation to any desired color. It is also possible to add patterns, textures, and shading to the background. To change the background of a presentation or to modify an existing background, complete the following steps.

❖ Select or display the slide that is to be changed.
❖ Click the Design Tab.
❖ In the Variants Group, click the More button.

❖ Click the Background Styles link.

❖ A gallery of different background gradients will display.
❖ Select one of the gradients to apply it to the slides in the presentation.
❖ At the bottom of the Gallery, click the Format Background link.
❖ The Format Background Task Pane will appear.

❖ The options in this dialog box are:
★ Solid Fill – When this option is selected, the background for the selected slide will be a solid color.
★ Gradient Fill – This option begins the background with one color at the top of the slide and gradually changes it to another color.
★ Picture or Texture Fill – This option is used to insert a picture from a file, the clipboard, or from online as the background for the slide.
★ Pattern Fill – With this option, the background will be different types of patterns such as diagonal lines, checkerboards, plaids, and diamonds.
★ Hide Background Graphics – This option is used to hide all the graphics for the design of a slide or presentation.

When each of the above options is chosen, the task pane will change to the options necessary to work with each one.

Click the options for the desired fill.
As the mouse pointer is moved over each option, Live Preview will display what the fill looks like.

After the Background Fill options are chosen, click one of the following buttons:
★ Reset Background – To restore the background to its original settings, click this button.
★ Apply to All – This option is used to apply the color scheme to all the slides in the presentation. Until this link is clicked the changes will only apply to the selected slide or slides.

Click the Close button in the upper-right corner of the Task Pane to close the Task Pane.
